- Wednesday, December 16 – Tuesday, December 22 – Final Exams

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

- The Final Exam schedule can be found at the classschedule.wayne.edu website. While the information for your final exams should also be located in your course syllabi, you may want to refer to this document to sort out any conflicts.
- The University of Michigan Doris Duke Conservation Program (DDCSP UM) is recruiting for a two-year research and internship opportunity. The program is aimed at bringing more undergraduates currently underrepresented in the environmental field into the conservation arena.
  In addition to a $4000 stipend, accepted students will also receive room and board, a discretionary allowance and travel expenses to and from Ann Arbor, Michigan. Please note that the application deadline is February 8, 2016. The program dates are June 5th through July 30th. Detailed program information and application are available on our website at http://ddcsp.umich.com.
  Please feel free to contact them at (734)936-0900 if you would like to discuss the DDCSP UM program further or e-mail us at ddcsp-snre@umich.edu.
- Principles of Paleontology – beginning Fall 2016, the Geology department will again be offering a course in Paleontology; see the attached syllabus for additional information about prerequisites, field trips, course requirements, etc. If you would like to incorporate this course into your Plan of Work, please schedule an appointment to see me.
- Here is some important information in regards to retaining your financial aid from semester-to-semester.
