SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

- The Mathematic Resource Center (MRC) has announced its fall schedule, which is attached to this email. The MRC offers free tutoring in various WSU math courses through Calculus (and beyond). They also specialize in tutoring for the Math Placement Exam. More information is available on their website: http://clas.wayne.edu/math/mathematics-resource-center.
- The Open Advising Forum will host its third session this upcoming Thursday, September 17 beginning at 2:00pm, in 0319 Old Main. Christine Huang, from the Academic Success Center is coming to speak about the various services offered in their office, including Tutoring, Supplemental Instruction, Peer Mentoring, and Academic Workshops, among other services. It is not required that you RSVP, however additional information is available on the events.wayne.edu website.
- As mentioned above, this Wednesday (September 16) is the Census Date for the fall semester; among other things, that is the date at which your Academic Major will be locked in for the term. Any program or major change sent to the Academic Records unit that is not processed by the close of business on September 16 will be processed effective Winter 2016. CHOMP (through Academica) is already programmed to do this. If you have any questions, please email the Registrars Office, registrar@wayne.edu.
- Finally, Degree Works is set to go live for students a week from today, Monday, September 21. Many of you have already heard about this new tool, but for those of you who have not, I recommend you look at this link: http://wayne.edu/degreeworks. Additionally, I will be happy to answer your Degree Works questions as well!
