Scholarships and assistantships

Select all forms of department/Graduate School funding to which you're applying along with your application for admission. Please note that only those applicants applying for fall admission by the Jan. 1 deadline will be considered for funding.

If you're an M.A. applicant applying for entry in the winter semester or for the fall semester after the Jan. 1 deadline, you will not be eligible for funding consideration at the time of your application. If you're admitted, you'll be able to apply for funding during the winter semester of your first year in the program. However, this funding is not guaranteed.

Note:

- Funding for M.A. students is extremely limited and may not be available during any given academic year.

SUPPLEMENTAL GRADUATE APPLICATION

- Most forms of Graduate School funding prohibit students from working in other positions within the university. If you plan to work full-time outside of the university, the more appropriate scholarship to apply for would be the Graduate Professional Scholarship.
- Review Graduate School Funding for more information about the funding sources before requesting consideration.

Rumble fellowship (one-year fellowship with stipend, tuition and fees and medical benefits followed by additional GTA funding in subsequent years, Ph.D. applicants only). Recruitment recipients are guaranteed a teaching assistantship after the fellowship as long as they are in good standing and making normal progress toward the degree.

Graduate teaching assistantships (continuing awards with a stipend, tuition and fees, and medical benefits, M.A. and Ph.D. applicants are eligible). Awards can range from one to four years. The length of award is determined by the number of years needed to complete the degree as determined by Wayne State University's regulations. Recipients ordinarily teach three courses per year. Renewal is contingent upon being in good standing, teaching excellence and making normal progress toward the degree.

I'm applying for winter admission or fall admission after the Jan. 1 deadline and am therefore ineligible for funding consideration at this time.

I have another source of funding and can support myself in the program without university funding.
