Children meet the president

April was the Month of the Young Child, an appropriate time for children from the Child Development Lab in the Knapp Building to call on President Irvin D. Reid and entertain him with a special spring song. At right, the children parade into the Faculty/Administration Building. Above, the president greets some of the youngsters, ages 1-5, in the FAB atrium. At left, after meeting with Reid, the students had fun on the lawn with suds and bubble-making wands. Not only was the outing fun for the tots, but it was also a way of making the campus community aware of the Child Development Lab, said Interim Director Su Porter.
