

2017 Frank Hartung Memorial Award Call for Applications

Frank E. Hartung was a professor in the Wayne State Department of Sociology from 1942 to 1978. He promoted the sociological study of crime and deviance. After Professor Hartung's death, his family, colleagues, and students established the annual $1,000 Frank Hartung Memorial Award in his legacy to recognize students who wrote outstanding papers, theses, or dissertations in sociology.

Eligibility: Sociology graduate students can apply for this award by submitting a paper of no more than 10,000 words (e.g., papers may be part of a Master's essay or thesis, PhD dissertation, or course paper) written since March 1, 2016.

To apply, students should submit an electronic version of their work to Dr. Krista Brumley, Director of Graduate Studies, Department of Sociology at kbrumley@wayne.edu. The deadline for submissions is by April 7, 2017. Please use the subject heading "Hartung Award Submission" when submitting your work via email. The winner will be presented the award by the members of the Hartung Family at the annual Sociology Student Award Day on Thursday, April 20, 2017.
